

To
The Editor
International Journal of Statistics and Systems
RESEARCH INDIA PUBLICATIONS
B-2/84, Ground Floor,
Rohini Sector-16
Delhi-110089 INDIA
Fax no.: 91-11-27297815
Website: www.ripublication.com

Respected Sir,

As per the technical consequences happened during the period, I corresponding author, M. Sreenivas, take this humble opportunity to request you that the article titled Probabilistic Transportation Problem (PTP), appeared in Volume 3, Issue 1 of International Journal of Statistics and Systems, is not a fruitful article from my side as its few results are taken from another article available in the internet, for which the source was not mentioned.

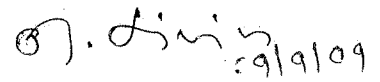

The co-author, which was mentioned in the article, is no way related to this matter, as it is not in the notice of him. It was happened without consulting the person. He is completely unaware of the article.

I sincerely apology to the entire scholarly community for taking such steps and the past history will not be repeated in the future attempts. Kindly remove the said article from your Journal.

I request your goodself to kindly think this matter with magnoliant heart and pursue this matter favorably on humanitarian grounds. I once again promise you to carry satisfactory work towards the Journals by following the respective rules.

Thanking you Sir,

Yours faithfully,

(M. Sreenivas)