

OCT 02 REC'D

To
James M. Crowley
Executive Director
SIAM
3600 Market Street, 6th floor
Philadelphia, PA 19104-2688 USA
siam@siam.org

Respected Sir,

As per the letter dated August 25, 2009, I corresponding author, M. Sreenivas, take this humble opportunity to request you that the article titled Probabilistic Transportation Problem (PTP), appeared in Volume 3, Issue 1 of International Journal of Statistics and Systems, I ashamed for the situation and I have been stopped such type of submissions to the Journals.

The co-author, which was mentioned in the article, is no way related to this matter, as it is not in the notice of him. It was happened without consulting the person. He is completely unaware of the article.

I sincerely apology to the entire scholarly community for taking such steps and the past history will not be repeated in the future attempts.

I request your goodself to kindly think this matter with magnoliant heart and pursue this matter favorably on humanitarian grounds. I once again promise you to carry satisfactory work towards the Journals by following the respective rules.

Also I herewith attach the copy of the letter, which was sent to the published Journal.

Thanking you Sir,

Yours faithfully,

(M. Sreenivas) 9/9/09