

Weierstrass Approximation Theorem

Any continuous function f can be approximated on a closed bounded interval $[a, b]$ by polynomials with arbitrary accuracy. More precisely, for any $\varepsilon > 0$, there exists a polynomial p with

$$\max_{a \leq x \leq b} |f(x) - p(x)| < \varepsilon.$$

Weierstrass Approximation Theorem

Any continuous function f can be approximated on a closed bounded interval $[a, b]$ by polynomials with arbitrary accuracy. More precisely, for any $\varepsilon > 0$, there exists a polynomial p with

$$\max_{a \leq x \leq b} |f(x) - p(x)| < \varepsilon.$$

