

I work in non-linear PDEs and probability, most recently on stochastic homogenization and the Abelian sandpile. I have a PhD from UC Berkeley, was an NSF postdoc at NYU, a Moore Instructor at MIT, an assistant professor at MIT, an assistant professor at Cornell, and (by the time of the conference) an associate professor at U Chicago. I was awarded a Sloan Fellowship in 2014.